

A Ghost Story

Last Mid-Autumn Festival night, John and Peter were having fun in a quiet countryside. They played lanterns and ate moon cakes under the moonlight.

Suddenly, there was a dark shadow in front of them. 'Oh No!' said Peter. 'It's a ghost! Help!' Peter and John felt very frightened. They screamed loudly and they ran away. However, the ghost chased them along the path until they ran into a house. 'I'm so tired. I can't walk,' said John.

'Oh! Help! The door is locked. Please help! Help! Help!' screamed Peter.

While they were shouting, they heard a noise, 'Don't go away. Stay with me. I will take good care of you! Ha Ha Ha!' a terrible voice said.

Tom and Peter believed that the ghost would treat them well, so they lived in that house with the ghost for a year.

One year later, again on Mid-Autumn Festival, Tom and Peter went to play lanterns in a country part. There were lots of people, but no one saw them. Suddenly, they saw a newspaper, and they read the headline, 'Two boys killed by a falling tree, 30th September, 2004'

A Ghost Story

Last Mid-Autumn Festival, John and Peter joined a camp but they had a frightening night that festival.

It was midnight. When all of the participants and leaders were sleeping, John and Peter ran to the graveyard on the top of the hill and started their adventure. They took some food and a torch. They played with lanterns and ate moon cakes.

On their way back to the campsite, suddenly, a long-haired horrible looking ghost in a red dress appeared in front of them. The ghost screamed and ran towards John and Peter who were extremely scared. The boys ran as fast as they could. They saw a small warehouse and went inside at once. Peter was scared to death and dizzy. John was tired and couldn't talk. After a break, they kept on going and went back to their campsite. They saw that their team leader, Tony, wearing a scary costume. "It is the monster that we saw," Peter screamed. Suddenly all the participants came out of their tents and brought a birthday cake towards Peter. Because he was so frightened, he had forgotten all about his birthday.

"Do you like our way of celebrating your birthday?" asked Tony. "It's scary but creative!" Everyone laughed. They all celebrated together with Peter and sang Happy Birthday to him.